

Secretary's report

by Cinzia Angelini

This report focuses on CECA membership during the period 2013-2015. In these three years a positive trend can be traced for both individual and institutional members.

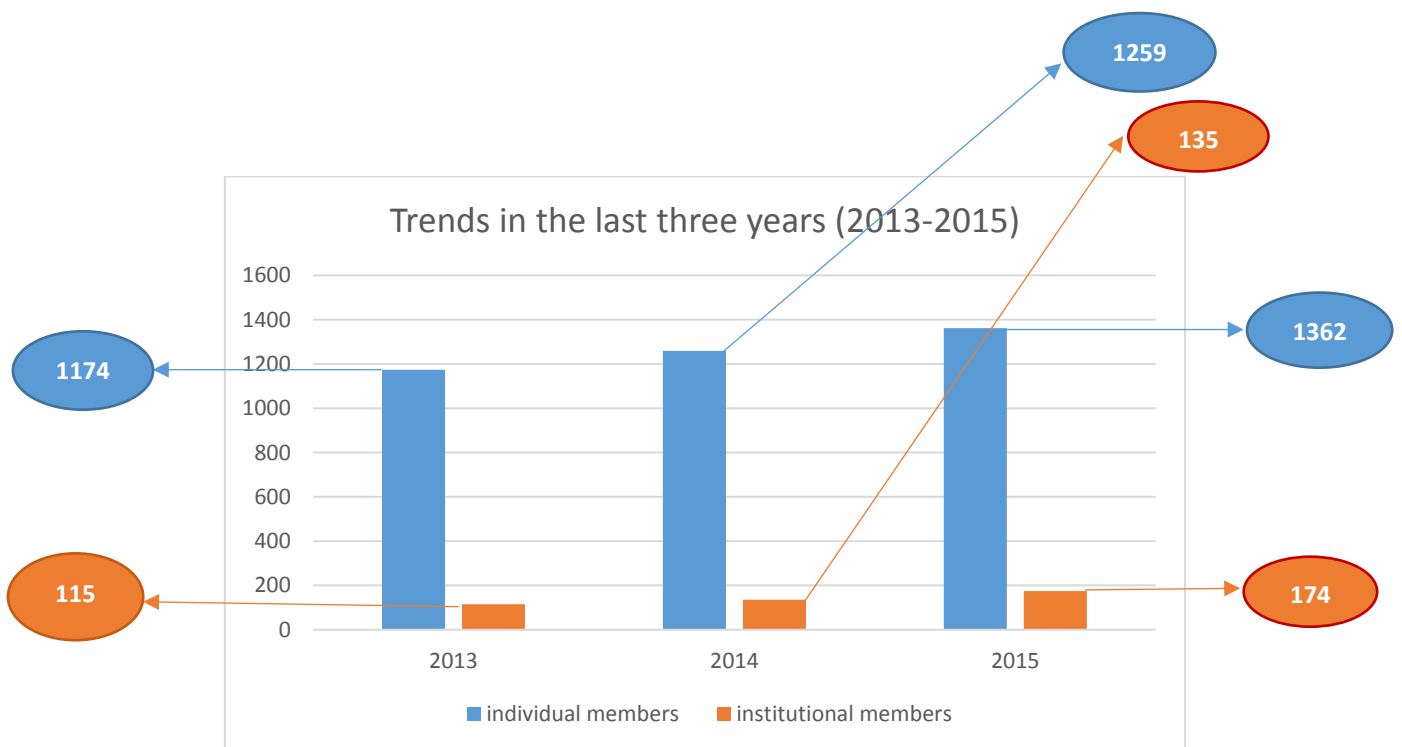

As shown in the table below, in 2013 CECA had 1174 individual members; the number rose to 1259 in 2014, with an increase of 7.24%, and to 1362 in 2015, with an increase of 8.18%. Considered along the three years (2013-2015), the percentage of individual members has increased by 16.01%.

The following table shows the 2013-2015 trend concerning institutional members. The 115 members of 2013 became 135 in 2014 (+17.39%), and 174 in 2015 (+28.89%). The increase in the full period is of 51.30%.

The data referring to both individual and institutional members are summarized in the following graph.

The interest in joining Ceca was often linked to the Best Practice Award: since the first edition, many requests for membership have been processed from both individuals and institutions that wanted to submit their projects to compete for the Award.
