Developing Numismatic Landscapes: Exploring display, digitalisation, management and education

Call for Papers

Dear ICOMON members and friends,

The 2016 ICOMON Annual Meeting will take place between 4th and 7th July, during the 24th ICOM Triennial General Conference in Milan, Italy under the general theme Museums and Cultural Landscape.

To coincide with the Triennial's theme, ICOMON's call for papers is now open on the subject of "Developing Numismatic Landscapes: Exploring display, digitalisation, management and education".

We welcome presentations from anyone working with numismatic and money collections in a museum or academic setting on one of the following themes:

- Exploring display e.g. collections that reflect changes in local landscapes over time
- Exploring digitalisation e.g. the landscape of digitised databases and numismatic research
- Exploring collections management e.g. museums preserving and interpreting landscapes
- Exploring education e.g. informal vs. formal education landscapes

Please send a 300 word abstract along with a presentation title, name, affiliation and contact details of the contributor to icomon2016@gmail.com by 28th February 2016.

Presentations will typically last 20 minutes and final papers should be sent to the committee by 1st June 2016. All abstracts and a selection of full papers will be published in ICOMON e-proceedings.
